

Dialectics and Wisdom 辨証法與智慧

Tsang Shu-ki (19/7/2008)

I don't know why I have lately been interested only in the most elementary and the most abstract, but not much about what's in between. It may be a symptom of tiredness, or reversion, or maturity.....

“The owl of Minerva spreads its wings only with the falling of the dusk.”

--- Hegel, 1821